Innovative

When U.S. Army Recruiting decided to upgrade and “brand” its recruiting offices across the country and U.S. territories, Office Environment Company was one of two dealers nationwide selected for this massive, long-term undertaking.

When the project wrapped up in late 2009, we had installed stations in every state, including Alaska and Hawaii, as well as Puerto Rico and Guam. The USAREC offices, a mix of both new and remodeled locations, range from a small two to three-person station to a large 19-person station. All sport the same contemporary look in furnishings, carpeting, proprietary custom fabric—even artificial trees.

In a seven-year project that has redefined multitasking, OEC has managed more than 1400 recruiting station installations ‘from sea to shining sea’ – and beyond.”

The process for each station was not that different from any stand-alone, single-location project: field measurement, space-plan drawings, product ordering & shipment tracking to ensure timely delivery, efficient installation, etc. But with as many as 60 to 75 USAREC stations in various process stages on any given day, and up to a half-dozen installations taking place simultaneously all around the country, expert project management, coordination and attention to detail were absolutely critical.

And Office Environment Company delivers – post-installation surveys indicate a very impressive 99% satisfaction rate. In addition, we have a strong focus on cost effectiveness and efficiency, coordinating installation scheduling and other field work along another project’s travel route or within a nearby geographical location wherever possible.
